

Objective 4. Assessment: Develop and implement a model assessment plan to measure longitudinally the success of the educational experience

Unduplicated Headcount for CREATE Courses

CREATE course enrollment for the six partner colleges is shown below for the period from Fall 1999 to Spring 2008 (nine academic years). The enrollment numbers are shown in both a table and chart format. Enrollment declines continue in all colleges except COC and Oxnard.

This year the researcher at College of the Canyons discovered that the previous year’s data had been reported inaccurately. The table below shows corrected data for all reported years. Last year, it was reported that the unduplicated headcount for the years 1999 through 2007 was 25112. Using the corrected headcount for College of the Canyons, this figure should have been 22975. Thus, the total headcount has increased by approximately 2100 students in the past year.

* Previous years figures for COC have been corrected. Last year’s total for the previous eight years should have been reported as 2859 rather than 4996.

CREATE College Percent Ethnicity of Total Enrollment

(Allan Hancock, College of the Canyons, Cuesta, and Santa Barbara Colleges )

The ethnicity of students at the CREATE colleges is listed in the table below for the entire college population. We do not have ethnicity figures for the CREATE courses. However, one might reasonably assume that the ethnicity of CREATE students tracks closely with the overall population at each college. There are no significant changes in the ethnicity breakdown relative to last year.

Reported Ethnic Group	AHC	COC	Cuesta	SBCC	AVERAGE
